The longest ride book download

The story for The Longest Ride really began when I learned about Black Mountain College. I had been struggling to find something that excited me for my next novel when I came across a reference to the college online. I was, to understate it, greatly captivated: that an isolated college in my home state of North Carolina was so influential to the American art scene seemed so unlikely that I began researching the school immediately. Thinking about all that happened during the school's 25-odd years in operation—World War II included—seemed so ripe with possibility. Soon enough, Ira's character came into my mind and The Longest Ride began coming together. Then, because Ira and his wife, Ruth, were such a wonderful example of enduring love, I wanted to find a perfect counterpoint as an example of new love. And that's how I came up with Luke and Sophia. Sophia was created to resonate with my college-aged fans, and Luke is really the quintessential All-American guy. I had never been to a Professional Bull Riding event, but there are so many ranches throughout North Carolina, it just seemed to make sense that he would be a bullrider. Summary After being trapped in an isolated car crash, the life of elderly widower Ira Levinson becomes entwined with a young college student, Sophia Danko, and the cowboy whom she loves, a young man named Luke Collins. The novel is told through the perspectives of these three characters as they go through their lives, both separately and together. Ira Levinson, ninety-one years old and already in poor health, is just holding on; remaining alert only because his wife Ruth, who has died, appears as an image to help him remember their life together: how they met, the paintings they collected and the dark days of World War II.[1] Just a few miles away, Sophia, a student at Wake Forest college, is about to have her life change forever as she meets an unexpected love, Luke. Luke is a cowboy and risk-taking bull-rider, unlike anyone she has ever known. Together they experience the joys of love as well as the difficulties that come with Luke's dangerous career. Two couples who have little in common, yet whose lives will converge with unexpected poignancy.[2] Black Mountain College The inspiration for the book was Black Mountain College (1933–1957), a liberal arts school whose faculty included some of the most prominent names in the modern art movement. Styles mentioned in the book include Abstract Expressionism, Futurism, Bauhaus, Cubism, and Lyrical Abstractionism.[3] The backstory of characters Ira and Ruth Levinson is that they visited Black Mountain College during their honeymoon and met with students and artists at the school artists' exhibition. Ira bought six paintings for Ruth which would be the beginning of more than a thousand paintings they would collect focusing on 20th-century American modern art. Artists in the book include Ken Noland, Ray Johnson, Robert Rauschenberg, Elaine de Kooning, Willem de Kooning, Susan Weil, Pat Passlof, Jackson Pollock, Jasper Johns, Andy Warhol and Pablo Picasso.[4] Film Main article: The Longest Ride (film) A film adaptation, from 20th Century Fox, released on April 10, 2015. He struggles to remain conscious but is helped by the memory of his loving wife, who seemed to materialize next to him. She passed away nine years ago. She keeps him alert by reminiscing through the experiences they went through while she was alive, from how they met to the WWII effects on their families. Ira is acutely aware that his wife, Ruth, is not actually in the car with him, but he still clings to her words and his memories. Just a few miles away, there is a local bull-riding event. Sophia Danko, a Wake Forest College senior, meets a cowboy named Luke. Through Luke, Sophia is introduced to a world where the wrong decision could very often be the difference between life and death, ruin, and reward. They both fall in love, and she finds herself in an unforeseen future, which was chosen by Luke, provided the secret he is keeping from her does not destroy it first. The two couples mentioned have little in common and are separated by years and experience, yet their lives will converge. Reminding us all that even the most difficult decisions can yield extraordinary journeys: beyond death, beyond despair to the farthest reaches of the human heart.
